

Othello. Come: let vs to the Castle.
 Newes (Friends) our Warres are done:
 The Turkes are drown'd.
 How do's my old Acquaintance of this Ile?
 (Hony) you shall be well desir'd in Cyprus,
 I haue found great loue among't them. Oh my Sweet,
 I prattle out of fashion, and I doate
 In mine owne comforts. I prythee, good Iago,
 Go to the Bay, and disimbarke my Coffers:
 Bring thou the Matter to the Cittadell,
 He is a good one, and his worthynesse
 Do's challenge much respect. Come Desdemona, Once more well met at Cyprus.

Exit Othello and Desdemona.

Iago. Do thou meet me presently at the Harbour.
 Come thither, if thou be'st Valiant, (as they say base men being in Loue, haue then a Nobilitie in their Natures, more then is native to them) list me; the Lieutenant to night watches on the Court of Guard. First, I must tell thee this: Desdemona, is directly in loue with him.

Rod. With him? Why, 'tis not possible.

Iago. Lay thy finger thus: and let thy soule be instructed. Marke me with what violence she first lou'd the Moore, but for bragging, and telling her fantastick lies. To loue him still for prating, let not thy discrete heart thinke it. Her eye must be fed. And what delight shall she haue to looke on the diuell? When the Blood is made dull with the Act of Sport, there should be a game to enflame it, and to giue Satiety a fresh appetite.
 Louelinesse in fauour, sympathy in yeares, Manners, and Beauties: all which the Moore is defectiue in. Now for want of these requir'd Conueniences, her delicate tenderesse wil finde it selfe abus'd, begin to heaue the, gorge, discifellish and abhorre the Moore, very Nature wil instruct her in it, and compell her to some second choice.
 Now Sir, this granted (as it is a most pregnant and vnforc'd position) who stands so eminent in the degree of this Fortune, as Cassio do's: a knaue very voluble: no further conscionable, then in putting on the meere forme of Ciuill, and Humaine seeming, for the better compasse of his salt, and most hidden loose Affection? Why none, why none: A slipper, and suble knaue, a finder of occasion: that he's an eye can stampe, and counterfeit Aduantages, though true Advantage neuer present it selfe.
 A diuclish knaue: besides, the knaue is handsome, young:
 and hath all those requisites in him, that folly and greene mindes looke after. A pestilent compleat knaue, and the woman hath found him already.

Rodo. I cannot beleue that in her, she's full of most blef'd condition.

Iago. Blef'd figges-end. The Wine she drinks is made of grapes. If shee had bene blef'd, shee would neuer haue lou'd the Moore: Blef'd pudding. Didst thou not see her paddle with the palme of his hand? Didst not marke that?

Rod. Yes, that I did: but that was but curtesie.

Iago. Leacherie by this hand: an Index, and obscure prologue to the History of Lust and foule Thoughts.
 They met so neere with their lippes, that their breathes embrac'd together. Villanous thoughts Rodorigo, when these mutabilities so marshall the way, hard at hand comes the Master, and maine exercise, th'incorporate conclusion: Pish. But Sir, be you rul'd by me. I haue brought you from Venice, Watch you to night: for the Command, He lay't vpon you. Cassio knowes you not: He not be farre from you. Do you finde some occaſion to anger Cassio, either by speaking too loud, or tainting his discipline, or from what other course you please, which the time shall more fauorably minister.

Rod. Well.

Iago. Sir, he's rash, and very sodaine in Choller: and happily may strike at you, prouoke him that he may: for euen out of that will I cause these of Cyprus to Mutiny.
 Whose qualification shall come into no true taste againe, but by the displanting of Cassio. So shall you haue a shorter journey to your desires, by the meanes I shall then haue to perferre them. And the impediment most profitably remoued, without the which there were no expectation of our prosperitie.

Rodo. I will do this, if you can bring it to any opportunity.

Iago. I warrant thee. Meete me by and by at the Cittadell. I must fetch his Necessaries a Shore, Farewell.

Rodo. Adieu.

Iago. That Cassio loues her, I do well beleue't: Exit.
 That she loues him, 'tis apt, and of great Credite.
 The Moore (howbeit that I endure him not)
 Is of a constant, louing, Noble Nature,
 And I dare thinke, he's proue to Desdemona
 A most deere husband. Now I do loue her too,
 Not out of absolute Lust, (though peraduenture
 I stand accomptant for as great a sin)
 But partly led to dyet my Reuenge,
 For that I do suspect the lustie Moore
 Hath leap'd into my Seate. The thought whereof, Doth (like a poysonous Minerall) gnaw my Inwardnes:
 And nothing can, or shall content my Soule
 Till I am euen'd with him, wife, for wife.
 Or sayling so, yet that I put the Moore,
 Atleast into a Telsonie so strong
 That iudgement cannot cure. Which thing to do,
 If this poore Trash of Venice, whom I trace
 For his quicke hunting, stand the putting on,
 He haue our Michael Cassio on the hip,
 Abuse him to the Moore, in the right garbe
 (For I feare Cassio with my Night-Cape too)
 Make the Moore thanke me, loue me, and reward me,
 For making him egregiously an Ass,
 And practising vpon his peace, and quier,
 Euen to madnesse. 'Tis heere: but yet confus'd, Knaueries plaine face, is neuer seene, till vs'd. Exit.

Scena Secunda.

Enter Othello's Herald with a Proclamation.

Herald. It is Othello's pleasure, our Noble and Valiant Generall. That vpon certaine tydings now arriv'd, importing the meere perdition of the Turkish Fleete:
 euery man put himselfe into Triumph. Some to daunce, some to make Bonfires, each man, to what Sport and Reuels his addition leads him. For besides these beneficiall Newes, it is the Celebration of his Nupciall. So much was his pleasure should be proclaimed. All offices are open, & there is full libertie of Feasting from this present houre of fye, till the Bell haue told eleven.

 Blesse the Isle of Cyprus, and our Noble Generall Othello.
Exit.

Enter Othello, Desdemona, Cassio, and Attendants.

Othello. Good Michael, looke you to the guard to night.
 Let's teach our selues that Honourable Stop,
 Not to out-sport discretion.

Cassio. Iago, hath direction what to do.

But notwithstanding with my personall eye
 Will I looke to't.

Othello. Iago, is most honest:

Michael, goodnight. To morrow with your earliest,

Let me haue speech with you. Come my deere Loue,

The purchase made, the fruites are to enioy.

That profit's yet to come 'twene me, and you. Exit.

Goodnight. Enter Iago.

Cassio. Welcome Iago: we must to the Watch.

Iago. Not this houre Lieutenant: 'tis not yet ten o'clocke. Our Generall cast vs thus earely for the loue of his Desdemona: Who, let vs not therefore blame;
 he hath not yet made wanton the night with her: and she is sport for Ioue.

Cassio. She's a most exquisite Lady.

Iago. And Ile warrant her, full of Game.

Cassio. Indeed she's a most fresh, and delicate creature.

Iago. What an eye she ha's?

Methinks it founds a parley to prouocation.

Cassio. An inuiting eye:

And yet me thinkes right modest.

Iago. And when she speaks,

Is it not an Alarum to Loue?

Cassio. She is indeed perfection.

Iago. Well: happinesse to their Sheeres. Come Lieutenant, I haue a slope of Wine, and heere without are a brace of Cyprus Gallants, that would faine haue a measure to the health of blacke Othello.

Cassio. Not to night, good Iago, I haue very poore, and vnhappy Braines for drinking. I could well wish Curtesie would inuent some other Custome of entertainment.

Iago. Oh, they are our Friends: but one Cup, Ile drinke for you.

Cassio. I haue drunke but one Cup to night, and that was craftily qualified too: and behold what inouation it makes heere. I am unfortunate in the infirmity, and dare not taske my weaknesse with any more.

Iago. What man? 'Tis a night of Reuels, the Gallants desire it.

Cassio. Where are they?

Iago. Heere, at the doore: I pray you call them in.

Cassio. Ile do't, but it dislikes me. Exit.

Iago. If I can fasten but one Cup vpon him

With that which he hath drunke to night already, he'll be as full of Quarrell, and offence.

As my yong Mistris dogge.

Now my sicke Foole Rodorigo,

Whom Loue hath turn'd almost the wrong side out,

To Desdemona hath to night Carrows'd.

Portions, pottle-deepe; and he's to watch.

Three else of Cyprus, Noble swelling Spirites,

(That hold their Honours in a wary distance,

The very Elements of this Warrelike Ile)

Haue I to night fluster'd with flowing Cupps,

And they Watch too. Exit.

Now 'mongst this Flocke of drunkards
 Am I put to our Cassio in some Action
 That may offend the Ile. But here they come.

Enter Cassio, Montano, and Gentlemen.

If Consequence do but approue my dreame,
 My Boate sailes freely, both with winde and Streame.

Cassio. Fore heauen, they haue giuen me a rowle already.

Montano. Good-faith a litle one: not past a pint, as I am a Souldier.

Iago. Some Wine hoa.

And let me the Cannakin clinke, clinke:

And let me the Cannakin clinke.

A Souldiers aman: Oh, mans life's but a span,

Why then let a Souldier drinke.

Some Wine Boyes.

Cassio. Fore Heauen: an excellent Song.

Iago. I learn'd it in England: where indeed they are most potent in Potting. Your Dane, your Germaine, and your swag-belly'd Hollander, (drinke hoa) are nothing to your English.

Cassio. Is your Englishmen so exquisite in his drinking?

Iago. Why, he drinkes you with facilitie, your Dane dead drunke. He sweates not to overthrow your Al-maine. He giues your Hollander a vomit, ere the next Pottle can be fill'd.

Cassio. To the health of our Generall.

Montano. I am for it Lieutenant: and Ile do you Iustice.

Iago. Oh sweet England.

King Stephen was and a worthy Peere,

His Breaches cost him but a Crowne,

He held them Six pence all to decre,

With that he cal'd the Tailor Lowne:

He was a wight of high Renowne,

And thou art but of low degree:

'Tis Pride that pulls the Country downe,

And take thy awl'd Cloake about thee.

Some Wine hoa.

Cassio. Why this is a more exquisite Song then the other.

Iago. Will you heare't againe?

Cassio. No: for I hold him to be vnworthy of his Place:
 that do's those things. Well: heau'ns above all: and there be soules must be saued, and there be soules must not be saued.

Iago. It's true, good Lieutenant.

Cassio. For mine owne part, no offence to the Generall, nor any man of qualitic: I hope to be saued.

Iago. And so do I too Lieutenant.

Cassio. I: (but by your leaue) not before me. The Lieutenant is to be saued before the Ancient. Let's haue no more of this: let's to our Affaires. Forgive vs our finnes: Gentlemen let's looke to our business. Do not thinke Gentlemen, I am drunke: this is my Ancient, this is my right hand, and this is my left. I am not drunke now: I can stand well enough, and I speake well enough.

Gent. Excellent well.

Cassio. Why very well then: you must not thinke then,
 that I am drunke. Exit.

Montano. To th'Plaforme (Masters) come, let's set the Watch.

Iago. You see this Fellow, that is gone before,

He's a Souldier, fit to stand by Cassio,

And giue direction. And do but see his vice,

'Tis to his verrue, a iust Equinox,
